Gov. Butler made a bold speech in the Democratic Convention of Massachusetts reiterating the whole of the Tewsbury horror. His utterances were applauded to the echo and certainly

s the center of Puritan civilization. We make the following extract: "Why, I only took up the old charges which had been smothered, which l found on the executive file, and I presented them, not as my charges, but as the charges of the Board of Charities of that very day against the institution. I supposed everybody would be glad to have that investigation. I desired to know it, and I found out about it. I found that, contrary to law, men had been taken and sold as merchandise by the hundreds; and I am one who believes that a man, poor or rich, pauper or convict, has a right to fill at least a pauper's grave. When a man came into my office and brought me a shoe made of the skin of a woman's breast, said I, 'Where did this come from .tanned skin, tanned leather?' 'Oh, said he, 'there is plenty of this to be got,' 'Is there?' said I. 'Where does it come from?' From Tewsbury.' does it get here?' 'Why,' said he 'men die at Tewsbury, they take them down to Harvard College and skin them and their skins are tanned at Woburn and Lynn and other places.' o do? Lay down the ferrule and let that industry go on? Not much. I brought him before the committee, and with a struggle I got him in evidence before it. but the evidence was ruled out by a party vote. And I produced the slipper,-one of them you can see in a vindow on Washington street any day .and tanned skins of our fellow-creatures some of them as good men as we are in every respect before misfortune and dis aster brought them into an almshouse.'

The above should be regarded with some dignity and credence coming from the Governor of a great State like Massachusetts that professes so much refinement and moral and religious culture. It won't do for Massachusetts to scout down Butler altogether. He was not ong ago a Republican and then he was in high repute. The coming over into Democratic company can hardly change his character so much in so short a time

SCHOOL COMM. JONER'S OFFICE, ORANGEBURG, S. C., Oct. 2rd 1883. The Public School Trustees of Orangeburg County are earnestly requested to meet with the School Commissioner, at "Mellichamp's School House," in Orangeburg, on SATURDAY, NOVEMBER 3rd, for general consultation upon such matters, as may al consultation upon such matters as may affect the welfare of the Schools. An enter-change of views and investigation of the educational needs of our children upon the threshold of the new Scholastic Year can hardly fail to be productive of good. No school Trustee, who is awake to the responsibility of his office, or who has the interest of the rising generation at heart, can fail to heed this call. Let all be present. STILES R. MELLICHAMP,

WHAT DRUGGISTS SAY

We do not hesitate to say that for a year past we have sold more of Swift's Specific (S. S. S.) than all other Blood Purifiers combined, and with most astonishing results. One gentleman who used half a dozen bottles says that it has done him more good than treatment which cost him $1,000. Another who has used it for a Scrofulous affection reports a permanent cure from its use.
